HEALTH CARE LAW AND PEER REVIEW EXPERIENCE

For over thirty years, I have sought to establish a well-developed and unique perspective on issues facing hospitals, physicians and medical staffs. With years of experience as a former in-house general counsel with two prestigious hospital systems, I seek to bring the corporate perspective to compliment my tenure as a private firm healthcare attorney. In addition to my focus on health care transactional, regulatory and operational issues, I have provided years of counsel on hospital and medical staff governance and peer review issues, peer review investigations, provider corrective action, credentialing, medical staff bylaws and rules & regulations. I have served as a designated health care law expert in peer review litigation in superior court and have represented physicians before the California Medical Board. I have been a civil litigator in California courts for over thirty-five years, from discovery through trial. I have instructed physicians in a curriculum of health law & bioethics at St. John's Hospital-Wayne Cancer Institute.
